EVENT EXPERIENCE PLANNING FOR HNW FAMILIES

WWW.BELAVIEVOYAGER.COM

What better way to facilitate the natural process of legacy than to meet socially as a family? Belavie Voyager creates event experiences in unique destinations for families. We provide the ideal opportunity for generations to interact and form bonds and even discover their place in the family business.

What we offer

Full event planning with unparalleled service, insider knowledge and exclusive perks

In-house Travel Advisor services to, from and within the chosen destination

Kids activities to keep the little ones interested and excited to meet other little ones

Bespoke experiences for the whole family along with tailored experiences for individuals who wish to incorporate me-time in addition to family-time

Optional business meeting coordination and educational programs

Where we go?

Everywhere!

We have been to countless destinations around the world both arranging events and exploring for pleasure. We've discovered the coral reefs of Bora Bora, the Caves of the Thousand Buddhas in Dunhuang, and the Northern Lights of Lapland to name a few. We are continually finding new destinations and experiences for our clients and no two trips are the same.

Belavie Voyager was created to fill a need voiced by advisors to high net worth families which is – it is vitally important that members of HNW families meet socially. The long-term success of the family business depends upon it. Generations of families would benefit from an experience in which they are able to engage and interact as a family and become a "team."

We fill this need. Meet the founders of Belavie Voyager.

Owner of Belavie, Susie has managed legal marketing and events for international law firms and wealth management organizations for over 15 years. She has worked with STEP Miami, New York and Gold Coast; EPC Miami and Baker & McKenzie to name a few. Susie has an MBA in International Business from the University of Miami. She splits her time between Massachusetts and Florida.

Creator of Voyager Traveling, Laurence is a travel advisor who has spent much of her life exploring the world. She was born in Paris, France and has lived and worked in more than 20 countries. She began her career working for an international resort company and moved to a senior management position with a successful Miami-based Destination Management firm. Her clients include but are not limited to: Cartier, Dior, Givenchy, Hermes, LVMH and Montblanc. Today, Laurence focuses solely on planning extraordinary experiences for her clients to places she has been and new places she wishes to know.

Let Belavie Voyager create your next experience.
